CHOREOGRAPHER APPEL
Spectacular reviews on gargantuan sets.

He's big, and getting bigger

By DAVID GREGSON
Sentinel Staff Writer

Raoul Appel is a local man who has made it big in show business, and now he's going on to make it bigger.

Appel, who lives at 4904 Voltaire St. and is a graduate of Point Loma High School, was born in San Diego in 1937. Now his Hollywood television engagements keep him out of town most of the time.

"I'm busier than I have ever been in my life," he says. He hardly has time to pay close attention to activities at his San Diego School of Jazz Dance in Ocean Beach.

Choreography is Appel's life. It has taken him to London, Las Vegas, Chicago, Los Angeles and Tokyo, where he spent four and a half years producing more than 900 shows for the Hilton Hotel. He has choreographed nude chorus girls, ballets in grand opera, cabaret numbers, and dozen of television specials. Once, by accident, he created a dance sensation which, like the "twist" in America, swept Japan overnight.

YET THEATER LIFE TOOK APPEL INTO THE greatest slump of his career last summer when his "Archy and Mehitabel" production at Vacation Village lost $23,000.

Appel started "dickering around with choreography" when he was in high school here. "It was strictly an avocation. I never intended it to be a career," he said. "I wanted to be an international relations and political science major when I went to college."

After graduation from Point Loma High, Appel pursued his projected major at the University of Southern California. But he also spent much of his time choreographing shows. At USC he directed the dancing in "The Boy Friend" and in two student operas, "Don Carlos" and "Tales of Hoffmann." Professional directors saw him and he was hired to do the choreography for "Allegro" and "Daddy Long Legs."

THOUGH APPEL'S PARENTS WERE OPPOSED to the theater as a career for their son, "Allegro's" success confirmed Appel's resolution to give up thoughts of international relations. In the summer of 1958 he climbed into a Volkswagen and toured the United States seeing as much theater as he could, in such places as St. Louis, Chicago and New York.

He returned to Hollywood, where he started to "live and starve like everyone else." One show he choreographed, "Home Town Boy," was a critical flop except for the Appel dance contribution. Rave reviews of the choreography attracted a USO scout, who offered Appel a company and cast for a six-week tour of the Orient. Appel accepted and the show, "Hollywood in a Suitcase," entertained military men over the Christmas season.

BACK IN THE UNITED STATES, APPEL RE-ceived a letter from the manager of the Mikado Theater Supper Club in Tokyo. He had seen Appel's work and wanted him there to do the club shows. Appel agreed to take the job. During the next three months he choreographed 16 nude girls, 32 clothed ones and 12 boys in spectacular reviews on gargantuan sets.

When George Chakiris, one of the stars of the film, "West Side Story," came to Japan he was received as a sort of hero due to the film's popularity there. Appel is a close friend of Chakiris, and the fact that they were seen together often "opened doors for me," says Appel.

Soon he was offered work with Toho Films. He became the first American to choreograph in a Japanese film. The Tokyo Hilton learned of Appel and hired him to direct its entertainment extravaganzas.

APPEL DIRECTED MANY STARS DURING THIS time, including Sophie Tucker, Chubby Checker, Pat Suzuki, Caterina Valente, Perez Prado and Yma Sumac.

In spite of his success there, Appel wanted to come back to America to live. In 1966 he started back via London, where the BBC had invited him to do a show. Then disaster struck. He contracted a severe case of hepatitis, which hospitalized him. Many months and thousands of dollars later he found himself back in San Diego, where his parents could help him.

After about six months he started teaching at California Western University here. After a break with the administration he founded his own school, the San Diego School of Jazz Dance. The ballet company he directs there is called Jazz Dance Inc.

In November, 1967, Appel staged a "jazz mass" here. It was followed in March by "Rhapsody in Blue" at the U.S. Grant Hotel. Then, in the summer of 1968, came the flop, "Archy and Mehitabel."

THINGS BEGAN TO PICK UP FOR APPEL RE-cently when NBC asked him to choreograph a Julie London television special. This followed his appointment as director of the Mickey Finn shows. Appel also directed a Dinah Shore special. This led to a Bat'ya Show in Las Vegas and to the Los Angeles musical, "Let's Sing Yiddish."

At the moment Appel has so many major engagements in so many places that he practically lives on airplanes between Tulsa, Okla., Hollywood and San Diego.

He has been taken on as permanent director for the "World Action Singers" of Tulsa. This group, which resembles "Up With People," is sponsored by the evangelist, Oral Roberts, for whom Appel is directing 52 half-hour television shows. A Roberts-Mahalia Jackson special will be aired here March 15.

Appel also is working on a Pat Boone special, a Roy Rogers and Dale Evans special and two commercials. Billy Graham has asked him to assist in the filming of a production in Israel this summer. Appel also will produce a review at the Stardust Hotel here March 27 and 28. A book called "Tell It Like It Is" will be released this week. Appel co-authored it with Ralph Carmichael.

All this should interest those who remember Raoul as Point Loma High's leading drum major.

Group gets name, now seeks purpose

Local town council leaders put their heads together Wednesday and came up with a new name for their newly formed organization.

"We have adopted the name Town Council Presidents Association," said Gerald Seymour, president of the Pacific Beach Town Council.

Seymour was host Wednesday to council leaders from La Jolla, Ocean Beach, Clairemont and the San Carlos area. It was the second joint meeting of the council leaders. The first was held in Ocean Beach last month.

REPRESENTING THE OCEAN Beach Town Council at the meeting were Mrs. Page Cummins, acting president, and Mrs. Fran Hanks, executive director. Deane Haskins, vice president of the La Jolla Town Council, also attended. The Clairemont Town Council was represented by its president, Henry Ross Jr., and John P. Andrew, vice president. The San Carlos Town Council was represented by Henry R. Mann, president.

Listening in on the proceedings was City Councilman Bob Martinet.

The two major items of discussion during the meeting concerned the problem of offshore drilling and the formation of a statement of purposes and principles.

SEYMOUR SAID THE MEM-bers of the new Town Council Presidents Association have submitted descriptions of what they think should be the goals of the organization. He said he and Andrew have been appointed to read that material and come up with a compromise statement of purpose which would be agreeable to all the members. This compromise statement will be presented at the next monthly meeting.

"We also have preliminary plans for a residential membership drive during May," said Seymour. "We discussed the matter thoroughly at the meeting, but each member must return to his parent council and discuss this plan with his group."

SEYMOUR NOTED THAT THE Ocean Beach Town Council has yet to draft a statement condemning offshore drilling. He indicated that Ocean Beach officials seem to favor such a resolution, although the matter will be brought before the council's general public meeting before any decision is made.

Will Gamble, executive director of the Pacific Beach Town Council, was present at the meeting.

Thorpe asked to reconsider

The board of directors of the Ocean Beach Town Council has asked Dick Thorpe to reconsider his resignation as president.

Directors met Thursday night to discuss the current crisis in council ranks which began with Thorpe's unexpected resignation last week.

Mrs. Page Cummins, first vice president of the council, will serve as president pro tem until the next board meeting March 20, when Thorpe will offer his final decision.

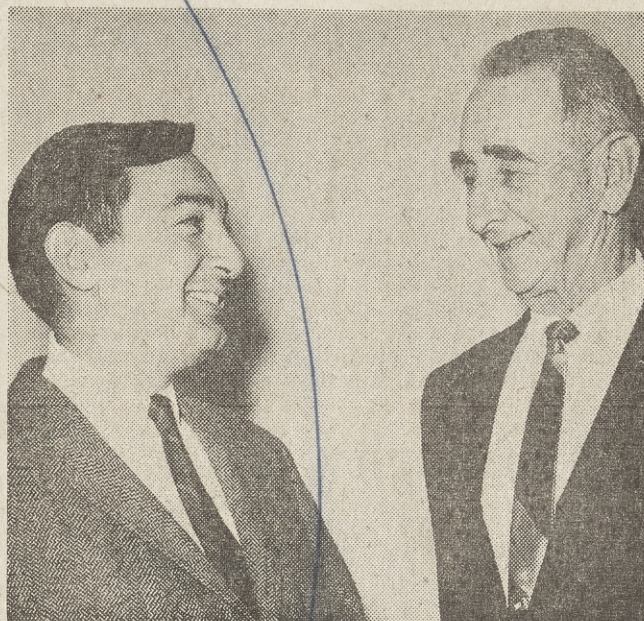

The next public meeting of the Ocean Beach Town Council will be Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the Ocean Beach School auditorium. The public will hear speakers representing different views on the offshore drilling situation.

There also will be a business meeting, followed by a report on council activities.

Gun, checks reported stolen

George Churchman, 1936 Diamond St., Pacific Beach, this week reported to police the theft of his .38 caliber revolver and travelers' checks worth $100.

The burglars broke into his home sometime Wednesday night or early Thursday, he said. Churchman is a retired city policeman.

WOLF AND ANDERS
"None of the reasons were any good."

They didn't care about moon trip

Cmdr. Arthur F. Anders, USN (ret.), paid a visit to a local junior high school history class this week, but the youngsters were more interested in the story of his military past than they were curious about his astronaut son, Col. William A. Anders.

William Anders was one of the three spacemen aboard the Apollo 8 which circled the moon 10 times last December. But Arthur Anders is a noteworthy person himself. Dana Junior High students quizzed him about his experiences aboard the U.S.S. Panay, a river gunboat attacked by the Japanese in 1937.

Only once did a youngster ask him about his reaction to the recent moon flight.

Anders, who lives in La Mesa, was welcomed to Dana Junior High by vice principal Saul Wolf. He was taken to a small amphitheater-classroom where the history class waited, equipped with notepads and tape recorders.

The bombing of the Panay took place in China's Yangtze River, Anders explained. He told the children how the bombing wounded him. Exploding fragments cut through both his hands and his neck. Yet he had to take over command from the seriously injured commander of the ship. Anders said many people seem to think the film, "The Sand Pebbles," is a version of the Panay story. "I saw it and didn't think much of it," he said. "It has nothing to do with what really happened."

After the attack the Japanese gave several reasons for their behavior, "none of which were any good," said Anders. The Japanese said they had been fired on first, that they got confused in the clouds and that it was a mistake. They later apologized for the attack, according to Anders.

Near the end of the one-hour session, one student asked Anders how he felt when his son was flying around the moon. "Well, of course there were tense moments," he said. "But we had confidence in NASA and the wonderful program."

He said he and his wife did go out from time to time to look at the moon and thought how up there, somewhere, their son was going around and around a place no man had ever gone before.

Talks continue on landscaping

City, port district, and federal officials hope to get together within about two weeks to discuss a final agreement on additional landscaping of both sides of Harbor Drive west of Lindbergh Field.

Portions of the land are owned by the city, port, Navy, and Marines. Officials of all four agencies have met several times to discuss the project, according to Deputy Mayor Sam T. Loftin.

About 10 acres of land from the airport west to the Harbor Drive estuary are involved. A portion of the land on the south side of Harbor Drive has already been developed with landscaping and restrooms by the Port District. The new landscaping would be similar.

AT DANA SCIENCE FAIR

Private life of octopus? Yes, and hair dyeing too

Subjects ranging from the private life of an octopus to the effects of temperature on blood clotting have captured first-place awards for 10 Dana Junior High School students participating in the annual science fair.

Saul Wolf, vice principal, said local judges selected the 10 first-place winners from more than 70 projects entered in the school's fair. And judges from the Greater San Diego Science Fair selected 10 projects, which will be entered in the city-wide event next month.

Jan Quon took first place in biochemistry for "Effects of Bleaching and Dyeing of Hair." Brad Copeland took first place for biology/microbiology with "What Is the Procedure of Mounting Specimens in Clear Plastic?"

First place in botany was won by Marcia Lai for "Does Pressurization Affect Seed Germination?" "Common Uses of Free Energy From the Sun" was the name of Scott Peterson's first-place project in the earth-space science division.

Tom Davis was the winner in engineering and electronics for "How to Design an Electrodynamical Generator and Test It." Richard Doering took the top prize in mathematics/computers for "Constructing Polyhedron Nets Out of Polyiamonds." John Landis was the winner in physics for "What Is the Relationship of the Ballistic Coefficient and the Thrust to the Altitude of a Rocket?"

Sally Pickering was top psychology winner for "Can Pre-School Children Learn to Recognize Simple Words?" "Sepia Ejections and Egg Breeding Habits of Octopus Bimaculatus" was the title of Richard Saarni's first-place project in the zoology division.

Judges from the Greater San Diego Science Fair Screening Committee saw the 10 winners a little bit differently. They chose Lai, Doering, Saarni, Craver and Quon, but the five other youngsters selected to go downtown were not first-place winners in the local judging.

Projects selected by the screening committee were "Solid-Liquid Metal Alloy Systems," Damon Meyer, physics; "Corrosion on Metal," Clay Thorsrud, chemistry/biology; "Ants," Stuart Stolp, zoology; "The Effects of Temperature on Blood Clotting," Steve Klug, medical science, and "Variations in Creativity," Wendy Anderson, psychology.

HONORED VOLUNTEERS

Andy Newcomb, Point Loma High School student, was named Boy of the Year this week by members of the Commission on Volunteer Services of the Volunteer Bureau of the city's Department of Community Welfare. With him here is Mrs. Margaret Henderson, president of the Peninsula Woman's Club, which was named Club of the Year by the same organization. Andy spends his volunteer hours at the Ocean Beach Recreation Center. Mrs. Henderson is active in youth work. Her club has raised more than $1,400 in scholarships for students.

The subject matter is geared to senior bank management and branch managers. Classes are held at Woodrow Wilson Junior High School, 3838 Orange Ave.

Among the courses offered at the COLLEGE OF JUDAISM are the following presented by three San Diego Jewish educators: Lawrence Meyers, educational director of Beth Israel Temple, on "Contemporary Jewish Philosophers"; Yearl E. Schwartz, educational director of Congregation Tifereth Israel, on "Methods of Jewish Pedagogy," and Dr. David W. Storm, associate professor at San Diego State College, on "The History of Jews in America." Those interested in these and other courses being offered at the college may call 583-3300 on Mondays, Tuesdays and Wednesdays.

14 minority firms invited by Chamber

The San Diego Chamber of Commerce said this week that it has invited owners or proprietors of 14 businesses under minority ownership to participate as courtesy members in Chamber activities.

Student wins cash award from B of A

A San Diego City College student from Clairemont has won a $300 cash award under the Bank of America's Business Awards program.

The student is Miss Geraldine M. Riggs, 2706 Arnot St., who was the winner in the secretarial science division.

Miss Riggs and other winners from Southern California community colleges will be presented their awards on March 14 in Beverly Hills.

A permanent plaque, on which the winners' names are engraved each year, is on display at each school. More than 70 colleges throughout the state are participating. The bank launched the program to encourage students to prepare for business careers.

Adults, do you want to learn to be creative?

You can express yourself by working with clay, wood carving, setting a chisel to a block of stone, or perhaps making a mold of rubber to reproduce a dozen or more of your ideas artistically.

All this is possible by enrolling in a sculpture class being held each Wednesday afternoon from 1 to 3:30 at the YWCA North Center, 2550 Garnet Ave.

Ample parking is available, as well as baby-sitting. There is a nominal fee for the child care.

The class is open to all interested adults, and anyone interested may register in class on Wednesday. Further information is available by calling 273-3221.

SUCCESS STORY OF DEPARTMENT STORE HEAD

Scott: 'Last of a dying breed'

By SARAH CONGDON
Sentinel Staff Writer

A modest little woman said in broken English: "Ask Mr. George Scott if what I say is not true, Mr. Scott knows our problems."

A blue-collar worker said: "You wanna know this community? You just talk to George Scott."

So we read personal profiles of businessman George A. Scott and success stories of his Walker Scott chain of stores in Women's Wear Daily, in the New York Times, in the Sperry & Hutchinson (green stamps) Magazine and in that confidence-index granddaddy called Barron's.

When we met George Scott, a story he told brought us back to the ones who had first expressed confidence to us in their friend and champion — his unsophisticated friends.

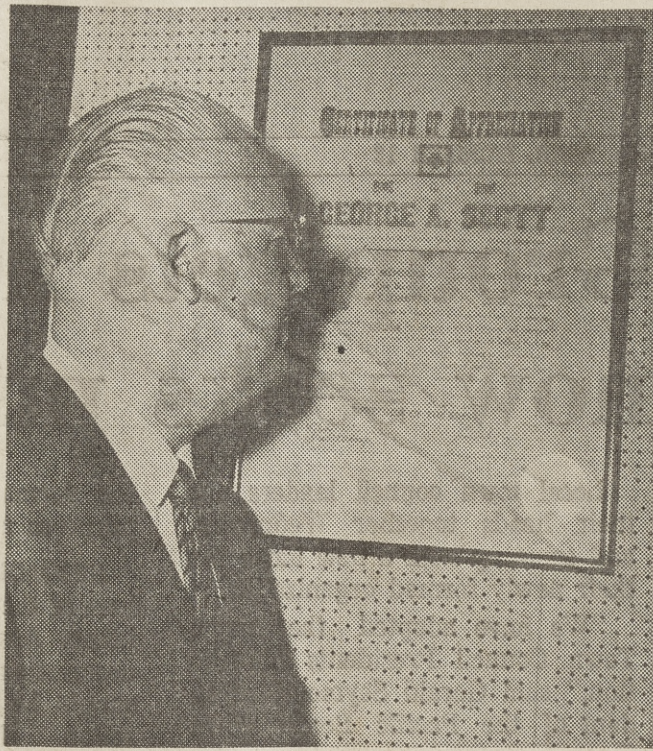

"I never knew what Barron's was until they wrote about the store. When I visited Wall Street, I recalled their invitation to drop by, and told them I didn't know about them before the story. They thought that was just fantastic," Scott said.

"MAYBE IT'S BECAUSE I spend so much time with just plain people."

Scott started the large department store complex in 1935, downtown. Today there are seven — in La Jolla, College Grove, Linda Vista, Escondido, Clairemont and El Cajon.

1970 building plans include stores at Balboa and Genesee Avenues, at Lomas Santa Fe, the Arena Shopping Center (near the Sports Arena), and Palm Springs. National City will be next. Under study are store projects for Southeast San Diego and Coronado.

Ralf M. Walker hired George Scott as a stockboy

SCOTT THE UNSOPHISTICATED
His will says burn or destroy them.

in a Los Angeles store, adopted the boy and sent him to the New York University School of Retailing.

Six weeks before Walker had scheduled the opening of the San Diego store (Walker Scott downtown) he died on a New York buying trip. Scott ran the store for his widow until her death in the 1950s.

SCOTT IS, OR HAS BEEN, a trustee, director, president or member of innumerable community groups. He was "Mr. San Diego" in 1953 and has had recognition and honors from the state and the nation — and even Chevalier of the Order de Merite Commercial de France.

"They'll all be burned or destroyed the minute I am out a briefcase, will work until 2 a.m. and be up at 6 to take his son to hockey practice.

An executive employee called him "the last of a dying breed."

"Flexible?" said the man. "He'll turn on a dime. He's an innovator, an experimenter, but if a thing doesn't work he will abandon it immediately."

"When it's working, he'll go all the way."

"He has a real knack for selecting someone to work for him who others consider the least qualified candidate — and the person usually turns out a real winner."

"He has great skill in detecting the thing that leaders and executives are made of."

"And he has the greatest sense of follow-up on details you ever saw. If he asks for a report he's not going to forget about it."

"HE'S SCOTTISH PRESBYTERIAN, a tough, demanding businessman, with a sense of the dramatic. To call us to an important meeting, it's not unusual to omit the memo and summon each of us by wire."

"He does all things in moderation, except the hours he works."

Scott just finished heading a drive to bring Town Hall — a community approach to problem-solving — to San Diego, because "I like that sort of thing."

He accepted the presidency of the Frances Parker Independent School, because "My children came late in life to me. This is a direct way I can help them."

For 11 years he was the first chairman of the Mission Bay Planning Committee, whose purpose was to bring the bay to "the second or third most profitable aspect of this community. But somehow I never find time to walk around and enjoy its beauty."

Most personally satisfying for Scott were responsibilities as the first lay president of the San Diego County Council of Churches from 1951 to 1953. He speaks Hebrew — "Met a nice Jewish chap while working at Macy's and went to his Hebrew classes with him — now I'm an honorary member of three synagogues in San Diego."

THE DEPARTMENT store executive has preached 400 times from the pulpit, he said. "Ecumenicity," not just in the religious field but in the business community, he sees as San Diego's "real strength."

A study by Careers Today magazine editor T. George Harris points out that cutting red tape to initiate social reform in business and industry has been almost a prerogative of the family-owned firm, the executive who does not have to answer to interwoven boards of stockholders and trustees.

We were reminded of that study, and asked George Scott about the premise.

"Social reform and ecumenicity in the independent firm? I helped start the Urban League here, and was given an award for it. I told 'em I was mystified, didn't know it was the kind of thing one gets awards for."

"WE HAD BLACK PEOPLE working in our stores all along; didn't know this was unusual."

"Selling?" we asked.

"Selling. But you see, I didn't know the difference."

A training film on department store career employment will be made available soon to interested schools and organizations. Walker Scott is producing the film as one of five movies for personnel training.

Church supports McGill

The church council of University Lutheran Church and its pastor, the Rev. John G. Huber, this week released the text of a statement regarding a decision by University of California chancellor William McGill to rehire Prof. Herbert Marcuse.

The statement reads as follows: We commend and support Chancellor William McGill in his decision to rehire Dr. Herbert Marcuse. We believe that this action is intellectually and morally essential for the university to serve as an appropriate forum for evaluating all points of view.

We express our confidence in the ability of students and faculty to engage in the intellectual discipline of making value judgments in the market place of ideas in a way that is critical, constructive, creative and responsible.

As a gathering of Christians who participate in a ministry devoted to serving the entire university, we identify with the concerns of the campus, but also with the best interests of the local community, our nation and our world. As a church, our primary identity is with Jesus Christ, our Lord, who identified with the entire human race in his life and death of redemptive love and reconciliation. Our faith in him as the ultimate truth gives us security to risk the discovery of truth from whatever source it may come.

We give our encouragement to the academic community of UCSD and to the competent leadership of its chancellor and administrators.

The art gallery of the University of California here will hold a special opening for Alison Knowles "Big Book" Wednesday at 8 p.m.

The "Big Book" is the largest bound book in the world, with pages four by eight feet. It's a book you can lie down in, make yourself coffee in, read another book in, roll on the grass in.

The opening is in conjunction with a comprehensive show of the group of sculptors, game and object makers, musicians, poets and theatrical artists known as Fluxus. Works by George Maciunas, George Brecht, Joe Jones, Dick Higgins, Robert Watts, Robert Filliou and Emmett Williams are included.

Gallery hours are Tuesday through Friday 11 to 4, Saturday and Sunday 11 to 5 and Wednesday night 8 to 11.

YOUR GOOD HEALTH

By DOCTOR JOHN J. FLYNN
Doctor of Chiropractic

Q—How come the spine is so important in health care?

A—Your spine is made up of 26 articulated bones.

Your head is supported on top and your pelvis is anchored to the bottom.

All of your ribs are attached to it and the main nerve trunks that control your entire nervous system run right through it.

It is one of the most important structures in the human body and it's a marvel of engineering. Serious spinal damage or much more common vertebral misalignments can impair almost all body functions causing pain and sickness.

Spinal misalignments pinch or cut off your body's nerve energy supply. When this occurs, pain and the loss of the body function controlled by this nerve is the direct result. To more easily understand this nerve energy loss, just remember the last time you struck your "funny bone" in your elbow. You immediately felt a tingling sensation and lost the use of the fingers in your hand. What happened is, of course, that you struck or temporarily injured the nerve that carries nerve energy to the fingers. When nerve interference is caused by spinal misalignments, then a Chiropractic adjustment must restore the tiny vertebrae bones to their proper place on your spinal column. Once the nerve pressure is relieved, then your body's built in restorative powers can begin to rebuild your health.

Q—My friend is a patient of yours and she told me that I could get a free copy of your pocket-sized book "Back to Health Through Chiropractic." Is this possible?

A — Yes. Just call or write the office and my secretary will mail you a copy without charge or obligation. I originally published this booklet for my patients as an introduction to modern Chiropractic care. But, it is now in its second printing and has been read by thousands all over the country. It makes Chiropractic simple to understand and gives an indication of just what you can expect from corrective Chiropractic care. It has truly been a welcome guidepost to many pointing the way back toward health and a vigorous active life.

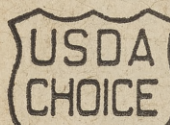

Doctor Flynn welcomes your letters on health problems. Mail your questions to his office at 6943 Linda Vista Rd. or telephone for an appointment to discuss your problem directly with him. Phone now 278-2902.

Nixon's first boo-boo: forcing out Ray Bliss

By PAUL HOPE

WASHINGTON—Richard Nixon, who nearly everyone agrees has gotten off to a good start in the presidency, may have made his first serious mistake in the political end of his dual job as President of the nation and leader of his party.

The White House pressure that forced Ray C. Bliss out of the Republican national chairmanship is not setting well with many Republicans.

No one argues that Nixon cannot have any chairman he wants. But in the Bliss case they are having a hard time buying the proposition that all is fair in love, war and politics.

Not only has Bliss built up a large and loyal following since he took over the chairmanship at the depths of GOP depression after the 1964 defeat, but many are upset by the circumstances of his departure.

A HIGH-LEVEL REPUBLICAN RECALLED THE OTHER DAY that immediately after Nixon was nominated at the Republican convention in Miami last August, he visited a closed meeting of the Republican National Committee and told the members Bliss was his choice to continue in the chairmanship.

And once he was elected, after reports surfaced that he would rather have a new chairman, Nixon again expressed high regard and confidence in Bliss and said he wanted him to stay on.

Bliss' friends in the party ranks were, as one of them put it, "loaded for bear" when the national committee and state chairmen met in Washington Jan. 17. But Nixon expressed such admiration for Bliss in a telegram to the committee that the Bliss partisans didn't even have to unlimber their guns.

Last week Bliss apparently got fed up and handed in his resignation. Reports had continued that Nixon would replace him eventually. The final straw apparently was White House insistence that a place be found at the national committee headquarters for Murray Chotiner, an old Nixon crony.

THERE IS A WIDESPREAD FEELING UP AND DOWN THE party that Bliss got a shabby deal. Added to that is a belief that Chotiner, despite whatever administrative ability he might have, will bring an "image" problem to the committee.

Bliss has built a "Mr. Clean" reputation, walking a tight, no-deal line between the party factions and treating everyone as impartially as is possible in a political organization. Bliss' concept of the committee operation was that it belonged to all Republicans.

It is believed that when Bliss leaves in mid-April Nixon will have the national committee elect a part-time chairman for the banquet-speaking circuit and will recommend that a full-time administrator be put in charge of the conduct and operation of the committee headquarters.

The thinking now—unless Chotiner has been talking out of turn too much or unless a big fuss is kicked up publicly—is that Chotiner will get the administrative job.

CHOTINER, ONCE NIXON'S CLOSEST POLITICAL ADVISER, has been kept generally in the private recesses of the Nixon camp since he was called before a Senate investigative committee in 1956 to answer allegations of influence peddling during the Eisenhower administration.

The manager of Nixon's vice presidential campaign in 1952, he is associated with Nixon's old Red-hunting days. And right after Bliss' resignation was announced, House Democrats recalled it. They were rubbing their hands over the prospect of Chotiner emerging on the national Republican scene and being heavily involved in the 1970 elections.

Coming out of a party caucus, one of them said: "We fully expect the 1970 campaign to be run like those of the 'old Nixon.'"

The distaste left by the Bliss affair comes on top of dissatisfaction among some Republicans about the way patronage has been handled by the new administration.

State GOP chairmen at last month's meeting complained in private about the lack of coordination with them on handing out jobs. Capitol Hill Republicans are not happy about it either.

Those who thought that to the victor belong the spoils think Nixon is not cleaning out the Democrats fast enough. Harking back to the almost non-partisan Eisenhower days, a quip making the rounds of Republican circles in Washington is that "Nixon is making Ike look like a politician."

The bumper sticker which once said "Don't Forget the Pueblo" has been altered slightly. Now it says "GET the Pueblo."

What's a joke told by a liberal? A Democrack!

What this country needs is either fewer laws or more judges.

LBJ will write his memoirs. The book jacket will be covered with forget-me-nots.

Ramparts magazine has competition—a new magazine called Barricades. Let's leave them alone to fight it out.

At the rate banks are getting held up these days, John Dillinger couldn't even have made the "Most Wanted" list.

The way Dr. Billy Graham goes to see Nixon, he may be the only doctor in the country making house calls.

Herb Klein says the White House swimming pool is too warm. That was LBJ for you, always in hot water.

Guess we can wind it up now—the last float in the inaugural parade finally passed the reviewing stand.

What a slow year so far. Nobody's gone to the moon in the last six weeks.

They may take cigarette commercials off television. Well, there go 614 variety hours.

Some congressmen really needed that pay raise. They were down to their last three or four automobiles.

You've arrived when, instead of towing your boat behind your car, you can drive your car onto your boat.

Is a congressman paid $42,500 more upright than at $30,000?

By FRANK GETLEIN

WASHINGTON—The new congressional pay scale, up from $30,000 to $42,500 a year, is an example to us all in these times of inflation and the need for the citizens to take it easy on wage and price demands.

Congress, to be sure, is in an unusual position in the wage negotiation business. It represents both labor and management at once. In its role as labor agitator, it put forth a wild proposal that its pay be upped to $50,000 a year. Then, as tight-fisted, inflation-minded, corporation money-man, it said, No, that was altogether too much, how about a compromise at forty-two-five?

There must have been some moments of doubt there, when management wondered whether it would have a strike on its hands, but reason prevailed and the membership backed the recommendation of its negotiating committee almost unanimously. They took the twelve-and-a-half-grand raise plus fringe benefits in the expense account. Peace prevails in the committee rooms as the result of labor statesmanship of a high order.

ON THE OTHER HAND, of course, the public has been bilked again.

The way the public has been bilked is not in the whopping big raise, plus "perks," that the boys under the dome have voted themselves. What's the use of being an office holder if you don't have some small key to at least a part of the treasury?

No, this year's bilking of the public resides in the fact that once again not the slightest step has been taken to ensure that the raise will produce its alleged good results.

Good results for the public, that is. The good results for the members is all the new dough. The motive for Congress to give itself a hearty boost in pay is simply that the money is there, why not have a go at it?

THE MOTIVE FOR THE public to stand still for the congressional caper is something else. The idea is that if we just pay the poor chaps enough they won't have to take to make ends meet. This is the legislative variant on the social uplift theory of crime control.

Just as the mugger, the rapist and the man who knocks over the corner liquor store would all be as lawful as larks if only there were more parks and public housing, so the congressman, if he is given enough pay, will become as honest as the day is long and less likely to buddy up with the oil, electronics, lumber, television, pharmaceutical, automobile, aerospace, banking, insurance and real estate industries, to name a few.

IT'S AN ATTRACTIVE

theory, but it is too much like the companion theory, the one that says the higher pay will attract a better class of people into public life. Besides the interesting assumption that better people are after bigger dollars, the theory breaks down the moment it is put into practice. This week, for instance, our brand new, higher-class congressmen attracted by the forty-two-five are actually the same old lads who until recently were plugging along at thirty grand.

It's the same with the higher pay as an antidote to being on the take. The way you stop legislative corruption is not by raising pay or lowering pay, but by having a few simple, well established safeguards, the sort of thing Congress itself is intimately familiar with from long experience in applying them to Cabinet officers and other high officials in the executive branch.

IN THE CASE OF SUCH executive officials, the main safeguard is divestiture of money interests in concerns having business before the relevant department of government. The reasoning is that a public official should not be in the position of having his professional judgment influenced by his personal financial interest, and very good reasoning it is.

This standard is not too much to ask of Congress, but it is certainly too much to ask Congress to ask of itself. Therefore, we should settle for disclosure.

If our new, higher-type, higher-paid Congress had an ounce of common fiscal decency it would at once adopt a disclosure rule that meant something—one that would, for instance, cover all sources of income, including continuing interests in law firms and lists of their clients having business with government.

The problem is how to attract members of a high enough type to rise to this minimum public honesty. The answer of Congress is predictable: to double its pay.

Don pays a call on El Presidente

By DON MACLEAN

WASHINGTON—Now that I'm safely home from my tour of South American capitals, I must tell you of an interview I had with a government official in a small nation, best left nameless. (I certainly don't want to be responsible for the calling out of firing squads.)

While I do not demand that you believe this interview took place, neither do I insist that it did NOT happen. Let us say the truth of the thing is somewhere between the barely probable and the somewhat implausible. Or something like that.

At any rate, your dashing foreign correspondent was invited to the palace of El Presidente and guided (by a rmed guard) into the sumptuous office of a highly placed official. As I entered he rose from behind his gigantic desk, we shook hands and he offered a cigar. Then he indicated he was ready for questions.

"WELL," I SAID, "YOUR group of military officers has been in control now for several months. Would you say the situation is stabilized and that this government will last longer than the 34 others that have preceded it this decade?"

"Why do you ask that?" he said apprehensively. "Have you heard something I haven't?"

"No I haven't heard anything. I just wondered, that's all. You people seem so jumpy."

"Jumpy? Who's jumpy? I have nothing but confidence. The situation is calm and the public loves us. In fact, I issued an order to that effect only an hour ago and it is being tacked up everywhere. It says: 'We are good. You WILL love us.' By the way, I wonder if you'd mind moving your chair a few feet to the right..."

"Sure. But why?"

"YOU'RE IN FRONT OF the window and in a perfect line of fire from across the plaza. From a distance they might think you're me and..."

"Never mind," I said, moving my chair. "How's this?"

"Fine. Now tell me how we might best attract American tourists here. Should I order the hotels to lower room rates?"

Just then the telephone rang. The official listened for a moment and then began punching intercom buttons on his desk. As functionaries answered he yelled "Muerte!", whatever that means. As we were about to resume our conversation I thought I heard machine-gun fire in the distance.

Cancer evidence?

By JAMES J. KILPATRICK

WASHINGTON—One of the paradoxes of education lies in the depressing discovery that often the more one learns, the less one knows. Lately I have been trying to learn something about the relationship between smoking and cancer. The office is knee-deep in medical papers and scholarly journals. I am up to my ears in carcinomas. And now I know nothing at all.

KILPATRICK

As best I can judge from this mountain of material, serious investigators in the field are in about the same fix. They have learned this much: There is indeed a relationship between smoking and cancer of the lung. The evidence is overwhelming. Beyond that point, what do they know? Really know? The answer is, not much.

The flat statement that "cigarettes cause cancer of the lung" is not an absolute, in the sense that "death resulted from a bullet in the brain" is an absolute. It is a working hypothesis. To be sure, the evidence to support that hypothesis is so strong that a man who digs into the literature has to be crazy to go on smoking. But the heavy smoker, alas, may be slightly nuts to begin with.

These fresh smatterings of ignorance result from a column I wrote recently having to do with the proposal of the Federal Communications Commission to prohibit cigarette advertising on radio and TV. In putting together that column I relied on a statement prepared by Surgeon General William H. Stewart, published in the Congressional Record of last March 27. Here Dr. Stewart said flatly that "lung cancer has been produced (by the inhalation of cigarette smoke) in a series of experimental animals." And he cited a British experiment to prove it.

WELL, IT TURNS OUT on closer examination that Dr. Stewart's assertion demands a few footnotes. The lung cancers produced by Dr. R. J. C. Harris and Dr. G. Negroni are fully reported in the British Medical Journal of Dec. 16, 1967. A copy is on the floor. This is their summary sentence:

"C57BL mice subjected to breathing a cigarette smoke and air mixture for 12 minutes every other day for the greater part of their lives develop a low incidence (4 percent) of alveolar carcinomas of the lung."

Very well. But what Dr. Stewart failed to say is that the form of lung cancer associated with smoking is not alveolar carcinoma. It is something else entirely, found not in the alveolus of the lung but in the bronchus of the lung. And despite repeated efforts, it appears that bronchogenic squamous-cell carcinoma—which is what the fight is all about—has not yet been induced in laboratory animals.

SKIP IT. ASSUME for the moment that the basic hypothesis is valid, that cigarettes are in fact a cause of lung cancer. What is it in the cigarette that triggers cell growth? More than 1,200 components have been identified in tobacco smoke. Which element, or which combination, is the villain? Is it tar? Nicotine? Gas? No one knows.

Consider an alternative possibility: Consider the smoker himself. Two researchers incline to the view "that a man who smokes is probably constitutionally and psychologically different from the non-smoker." A third investigator suggests "that the variable which produces a large incidence of cancer among smokers is the emotional component, not the cigarette."

A number of studies have tended to indicate that smokers, as a group, are physically different from non-smokers. They have larger heads, necks, hips and calves. Moreover, they score higher on the Taylor Manifest Anxiety Scale. They have fewer white-space responses in the Rorschach test. What do you know about that? They are more extroverted than other men—more marked by "sociability, liveliness, jocularity and impulsiveness."

Are these traits imbedded in genetic structure? If so, is there something in the genes of the hefty back-slapper that predisposes him to cancer? To paraphrase the lean and hungry Cassius, the fault may lie not in our stars, but in ourselves. It's something to think about. And back to the books.

Harris Poll

Policy on Red China

By LOUIS HARRIS

Even before the talks between the United States and China were canceled, for the first time since 1966 the trend of public opinion has turned against the exchange of diplomatic missions with the Peking government. In addition, the American public continues to be opposed to seating China in the United Nations.

The latest reading among 1,447 persons, constituting a carefully drawn cross-section of the nation, shows the public opposed to diplomatic recognition, by 44 to 30 percent. Back in 1967 the public favored such recognition, by 41 to 34 percent, and in 1966 the margin was 43 to 33 percent in favor.

A majority of Americans (54 percent) still are opposed to the outright admission of China to the United Nations. The number favoring this step, however, has risen from 10 percent in 1964 to 32 percent in 1969. Opposition has declined from 73 to the present 54 percent over the same period.

Just before the talks were canceled the American people supported the Nixon administration in its effort to carry on talks with Communist China "to reduce tensions in Asia," by a clear 65 to 23 percent margin.

At the moment, the most the American people appear ready to risk in relations with Communist China is to favor adoption of a two-China policy by the United Nations. Under this arrangement, both the regime in Peking and the Taiwan Nationalist government under Chiang Kai-shek would be seated in the U.N.

DURING THE PERIOD OF intensification of the Vietnam war a continued erosion of support on the issue of establishing official relations with China has taken place. There are, however, sharp and significant divisions among the American people on this question by age and education. The cross-section was asked:

"Do you favor or oppose diplomatic recognition of Communist China?"

	DIPLOMATIC RECOGNITION OF CHINA
	Favor	Oppose	Not Sure
1966 Nationwide	43	33	24
1967 Nationwide	41	34	25
1969 Nationwide	39	44	17
By Age
Under 35	48	37	15
35-49	38	45	17
50 and over	38	45	17
By Education
8th grade or less	27	49	24
High school	37	44	19
College	50	41	9

The young and better educated sectors of the American public tend to favor recognition, in contrast to the less affluent and older parts of the population.

Support for a two-China policy in the U.N. has not changed substantially over the last three years. A slight plurality now favors such a move, although the result is within the statistical margin of error for a sample of this size. Consecutive cross-sections were asked:

"It has been suggested that both Communist China and Nationalist China be made members of the United Nations, as two different countries. Would you favor or oppose this two-China policy as a solution?"

	TWO-CHINA POLICY IN U.N.
	Favor	Oppose	Not Sure
1966 Nationwide	37	31	32
1967 Nationwide	38	34	28
1969 Nationwide	41	38	21
By Age
Under 35	49	32	19
35-49	43	36	21
50 and over	33	45	22
By Education
8th grade or less	27	40	33
High school	41	39	20
College	51	36	13

Again, the lines break sharply by age and education. In a two-China solution, the American people make it abundantly clear that they in no way favor abandoning U.S. commitments to the Chiang regime. By 55 to 19 percent a majority say we should continue to support the Nationalist government. This total is down, however, from a 65-to-6-percent margin in 1966.

MERRY-GO-ROUND

Thurmond problem is passed to Finch

By DREW PEARSON
and JACK ANDERSON

Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—President Nixon called Robert Finch, the Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, to the White House recently to discuss what to do about Sen. Strom Thurmond.

The austere 66-year-old Republican from South Carolina, who stands on his head and does daily push-ups to keep fit—and recently married a 22-year-old girl—is credited with holding the South in line for Nixon at the Republican

He brought Nixon behind closed doors to talk to southern delegates. While Thurmond beamed paternally, Nixon promised the southerners he would let local districts set the guidelines for school desegregation. This was exactly what southerners wanted to hear, but was contrary to the law passed by Congress. The enterprising Miami Herald planted a tape recorder on a delegate and got a full transcript of Nixon's closed-door pitch.

Throughout the presidential campaign, Thurmond repeated this promise up and down the South. Wait until Nixon reaches the White House, he promised his southern satraps. The old order will be restored.

FINCH, HOWEVER, TOOK office with no intention of ignoring the civil rights law which requires federal funds to be withheld from school districts that don't desegregate. His first move was to ask Mrs. Ruby Martin, a brilliant, 35-year-old Negro lawyer, to remain in charge of the civil rights program.

Finch even came to his predecessor, Wilbur Cohen, for advice on how he could persuade Mrs. Martin to stay. Cohen suggested that he offer her a promotion and a more prestigious position. Finch went to her with the offer, which she turned down to go into private practice.

He scarcely got settled behind his new desk at HEW, however, before Thurmond demanded that Nixon keep the secret promise he had made to southern delegates in Miami and leave it up to the districts to decide what to do about desegregation in five school districts in Mississippi and North and South Carolina. Strom is so unyielding on this subject that he cast the only Senate vote against the confirmation of Wilbur Cohen for HEW Secretary in 1967 because of Cohen's stand on desegregation.

THE SENATOR IS A headstrong mossback who is accustomed to getting his way. When he wanted the trees cut down in front of the apartment house which he and Hubert Humphrey—among others—occupy near the Potomac, Humphrey, then vice president, didn't want them cut down. They were cut down anyway.

When Sen. Ralph Yarborough tried to steer Strom into a Senate hearing he didn't want to attend, the senator from South Carolina wrestled the senator from Texas in the corridor outside the hearing room and Yarborough ended up on the floor.

Again, Strom asserted his stubborn will on a congress-sional air trip abroad. There were only two bunks on the plane for the several senators, congressmen and their wives. Thurmond and his late wife, the latter a bit embarrassed, climbed into one bunk while other senators were still chatting, and proceeded to pray and read the Bible quite audibly, as if to invoke divine sanction upon his expropriation of half the bed space aboard the plane.

SO IT IS NO SMALL MATTER to go against Strom Thurmond. Nevertheless, Finch insisted to Nixon that the desegregation laws would have to be enforced. In the end, Thurmond got a 60-day further period of grace for the five school districts. Considering the fact that these schools have been warned, given hearings, visited, warned again, and given months of extra time, and considering the fact that it has been 14 years since the Supreme Court decreed they should desegregate "with all deliberate speed," this was quite a concession.

During the White House huddle Finch also agreed he would do his utmost to persuade some 200 other non-complying school districts to desegregate. He might be able to talk a third, perhaps even half of them into going along with the law, Finch said.

STOCK SPECULATION The Securities and Exchange Commission has discussed behind closed doors how to stop the stock speculation that is swamping brokers with paperwork and threatening to bring the stock market tumbling down in the biggest crash since 1929.

They agree that the brokers need more, not less, regulating despite Nixon's promise in a campaign letter to stockbrokers before his election to give them less. The commissioners want legislation giving them more power to curb companies that seem to be in business more to promote their stock than to produce goods.

The commissioners are particularly concerned about the new stock issues that have been run up far beyond their value. One proposal, which would end a lot of stock manipulating and slash the paperwork, is a 100 percent tax on all stock sold before 60 days.

Under this proposal, a person who purchased stock could get his money back if he needed capital. But he couldn't collect a penny of profit until he had held the stock at least 60 days. All profits for the first 60 days would be taxed at 100 percent.

Chamber coordinates publicity

A new program to coordinate publicity for San Diego throughout the nation in the areas of economic, business, industrial, commercial, education and military news was announced this week by Clayton H. Brace, president of the San Diego Chamber of Commerce.

"We are determined to bring San Diego successfully to the attention of the world in as many ways as we can," he said.

To that end, the Chamber has established a press information center. Mrs. Marjorie Simonton has been named coordinator.

The program involves three steps, Brace said:

1. To supply basic information to selected members of the press who represent out-of-town publications to assure their clear and correct understanding of San Diego's identity and its direction for the future.

2. To encourage and assist Chamber members and affiliated organizations to initiate, intensify, or broaden their publicity efforts beyond San Diego County.

3. To originate news releases and articles about San Diego's economy and factors affecting it.

U. S. archivist to speak here

The man in charge of the Declaration of Independence and the evidence in the assassination of John F. Kennedy will be a featured speaker at the fifth annual San Diego Historical Convention.

Dr. James B. Rhoads, archivist of the United States, based in Washington, D. C., will speak at the final dinner of the three day convention. The convention will be held at the University of San Diego Thursday through Saturday. His topic will be "California in the National Archives."

Course shows how to decorate inexpensively

Learn to decorate your home without overextending the purse strings. Wonderful and inexpensive things can be done to create fresh and vibrant surroundings.

Mrs. Carlene Harper, a former teacher and free lance interior designer, will conduct the course. The class meets each Wednesday from 12:30 to 3 p.m. at the Pacific Beach Recreation Center, 1405 Diamond St.

Mrs. Harper plans to guide her students toward coordination of an attractive home with comfort, pleasant atmosphere, and good taste, compatible with the personality of the family.

Interested women may register in the class on Wednesday afternoon. Call 273-3221 for additional information concerning this class.

Auditions set for new play

San Diego actors have been invited to audition for the City College production of San Diego playwright S. Lynnwood Browns new play. Auditions will be held in the college's Little Theatre tomorrow and Tuesday, beginning at 7:30 each evening.

The play is a farcical version of "Hamlet" titled "The Rogue and Peasant Slave, or, What's His Face, Prince of Denmark." All actors auditioning have been asked to present a memorized short comic monologue and a short dramatic scene. Material will be provided for those without scenes. The play will open late in April.

Rhoads has been prominent in the news recently as keeper of the assassination evidence which has been a key element in the Clay Shaw conspiracy trial in New Orleans.

Historians and history buffs will hear papers and speeches by 40 of the nation's top scholars and historians, according to Dr. Raymond S. Brandes, co-chairman of the arrangements committee. The theme of the convention is the 200th anniversary of the birth of San Diego and of California.

The concelebrated mass honoring Father Junipero Serra will be a high point of the convention. Sister Catherine McShane said. Sister McShane, chairman of the USD College of Women's department of history, is the other co-chairman of the arrangements committee. Brandes is chairman of the same department at the USD College for Men.

Father Serra founded Mission San Diego de Alcalá in 1769 at the site of the Presidio in San Diego's Old Town.

Procedures for the canonization of Father Serra are under way, and the process will be described for the convention by the Rev. Noel Moholy of Lakeport. Father Moholy is the liaison for the canonization cause between the Franciscan Order and the authorities in Rome.

Course set in interior decorating

A course in interior decorating is accepting new enrollees.

Mrs. Carlene Harper, who is the teacher, promises to guide students toward coordination of an attractive home with comfort and pleasant atmosphere in good taste compatible with the personality of the family, as well as the family purse.

Color coordination, window or wall treatments, carpeting and furnishings, and decor for all rooms are part of the course offering.

Interested adults may register Wednesday afternoon at the Pacific Beach Recreation Center, 1405 Diamond St., with Mrs. Harper. Class hours are 12:30 to 3.

"TAKE-HOME PAY" IS JUST A TERM—ACTUALLY, IT NEVER GETS CLOSER THAN THREE BLOCKS—

LAW IN ACTION

A LOST WILL

Joe Jones, a bachelor, had lived with Pete Smith and his family for fifteen years before he died. In his will he left all his estate to the Smiths. He often showed the Smiths his will.

But when Jones died, no one could find his will, or even a copy.

Jones' sister and brother, whom he hadn't seen for years, claimed the estate, since if he died without a will (intestate) his nearest relatives (his parents, brother, and sister) would legally come into the estate.

But if his will could be proved, Smith would get the estate. The law says that a person may destroy or lose his will accidentally. If so, the court can accept a copy or some other proof of it. But Pete Smith could not prove the will. If a person destroys his will meaning to revoke it, then the will can never be probated.

A person may want to die without a will (intestate) and let California law say who gets his estate.

As a rule, a lawyer who drafts a will keeps a copy or sometimes the original. Thus the will can only be changed or destroyed in line with the testator's own desires. The law presumes a person ment.

who destroyed or "lost" a will did so to revoke it. Lacking proof to the contrary, the court will hold there is no longer any such will. In this event, the testator dies intestate. His estate goes to his nearest relatives under the general law.

But someone may have served the decedent, taken care of him, looked after his home. The court may allow such a person to be paid from the estate for these services like other creditors. Thus, Smith took care of Jones for years, and gave him room and board. He may be able to claim payment from Jones' estate. This depends on whether Jones expected to pay for his care, and whether Smith expected to pay for his services. Should Smith give this care purely as a friend without expecting payment, he then would have no claim.

Such a creditor must prove his claim like others. If there is not enough to pay the claim in full, he and other creditors must take less than full payment.

Note: California lawyers offer this column so you may know about our laws.

TAX TIPS FROM IRS

What delays tax refund?

(This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by the taxpayers.)

Q—Can you round off income and expenses to the nearest dollar when you file?

A—Yes, you may round off your figures to the nearest dollar. However, this does not mean that estimates are acceptable. Items listed on a return must be properly substantiated.

Q—Because of illness in the family, we had to have a full time nurse for several weeks last year. Is this a deductible medical expense?

A—The amount you paid her for nursing services will be deductible as a medical expense. However, if the nurse also performed household duties, that part of her pay is not considered a medical expense and should not be included.

Q—Where should I send my return? I am due a refund.

A—Send it to your regional service center. A pre-addressed envelope has been provided in your 1040 package. If you didn't get one, check page 9 of your 1040 instruction booklet for the correct service center address.

Q—How do you figure the minimum standard deduction?

A—The deduction amounts to $200 plus $100 for each exemption taken on the return including those for age and blindness. For married couples filing separately, the deduction is $100 plus $100 for each exemption. The maximum that may be claimed by those using this deduction is $1,000 but it is limited to $500 when a married taxpayer files a separate return.

A married couple with two children as dependents would be entitled to a $600 deduction when this method is used. If the income reported on the return was under $6,000, then this method would be more to the couple's advantage than the standard deduction.

Q—What was the biggest reason for refund delays last year?

A—Missing or erroneous Social Security numbers were responsible for delays in processing almost two million refund checks in 1968.

Taxpayers receiving their forms in the mail should be sure to use the pre-addressed label that came on their return. It gives the taxpayer's Social Security number, name and address just as they appear in IRS files. If there is an error in the label, correct it and send it back with the return.

Note that the label can be lifted off the return and placed on the tax form to be sent to IRS if that becomes necessary.

Q—Can you deduct the fees paid for auto license tags?

A—No, these are usually not deductible. The exception to this would be if the license fee is based on the value of the car. In that case, the fee could be deducted as a personal property tax.

Q—Is there any limit on what a child can earn and still be claimed as a dependent by his parents?

A—The general rule is that a person may not be claimed as dependent if he has gross income of $600 or more. The exception to this rule is when the person is your child and he is either under 19 or is a full-time student. Then you may claim him as a dependent regardless of the amount of his income as long as you provide more than one-half his total support for the year.

Q—What's the rule on Social Security benefits, are they taxable?

A—No, Social Security benefits are not taxable and do not have to be reported. They should be considered, however, in determining total support of a person who is a recipient of such benefits.

U.S. 'dropouts' in Baja to get retreat house

American youths who have dropped out of life in the United States and across the order will be welcomed in a retreat house to be built in Tijuana by the Lutheran Baja California Mission.

The Rev. Charles W. Huckaby of Linda Vista's Pastor of Peace Lutheran Church has announced that the groundbreaking for the first building at the mission will take place at noon Saturday.

Initial construction will be an all-purpose building, to be followed by a parsonage.

Later the retreat house, a clinic, an orphanage and a playground will be built.

American youths who seek haven in Mexico from the draft, or for purposes of "doing their thing" without the strictures of U.S. authority, have been discouraged by Mexican state and local governments and by a federal campaign urging them to "go home."

The exodus of a few years ago, before Canada drew the major portion of exiles, has left an undetermined number in Mexico without jobs, funds or housing.

The Lutheran Baja California Mission (LBCM) serves Mexicali and Tijuana. The Rev. Mr. Huckaby is chairman of the board, which is arranging speakers and slide presentations to enlist support for the church's work in Baja. Interested groups may write to LBCM, P.O. Box 11248, San Diego 92111.

The phone has been ringing in Tom Carter's Mesa College office all week. Friends, coaches and former players are calling to congratulate the Olympians' new head football coach on his selection.

Carter, an assistant under John Kovac for the past five years, replaced the former head mentor when he stepped down last week. Kovac recommended his former assistant for the post.

Kovac, citing personal reasons, resigned as head of the school's football staff but will remain as chairman of the physical education department. He posted a won-loss record of 30-14-2 in his five years at Mesa and included conference crowns in 1966 and 1967.

Carter takes the reins to become the second grid coach in Mesa's brief history. He'll have 26 players returning but only 12 are lettermen. The Olympians posted a 4-5 record last year and the Junior College conference does not allow Spring practice.

"Every September it's a big surprise," said Carter with a smile. "You never know who did enroll or who didn't. The first team meeting can be mighty interesting."

The new head mentor is a native of Los Angeles and a graduate of Notre Dame University where he was quarterback and defensive back from 1948 through 1950. He earned a Master's degree from San Diego State. He served on prep coaching staffs in Cincinnati and Santa Ana before taking over as head coach at St. Augustine. He coached the Saints nine years before joining the staff at Mesa.

"We'll use a multi-purpose set, similar to the line-up used by the Kansas City Chiefs," said Carter. "Right now our big job is to visit high schools and explain our program to graduating football players. The Western League had one of its best years ever, last season, and the players are getting better all the time. They're well coached and drilled in the fundamentals. When they get to us, they know what they're doing on a football field."

"Carter is somewhat of an innovator and will draw the best of what material he has," offered Mesa Athletic Director Merrill Douglas.

"The best material in the country is right here in the Western League," claimed Carter. Mesa's new head mentor also has a few ideas when the game should be played.

TOM CARTER
Thursday football?

"I see no reason why we can't schedule some games on Thursday evenings," said Carter. "We buck the Chargers or San Diego State when we play on Saturday and we do not intend to crowd the high schools, so we just might work on a few Thursday night games." Innovation seems to be Carter's bag.

Mesa assistants Charlie Popa and Joe Duke will remain on Carter's staff according to the announcement made by Douglas. The new head coach will name one more assistant, probably a line coach, in the near future.

PADRES—The San Diego Padres were forced to delay their first pitches at enemy batters due to visa problems. The Pads were scheduled to make their major league debut today at Mexico City with a three game series opening against that town's entries in the Mexican League. Proper visa's could not be obtained for the Padres in time to complete the assignment. This year's trip to the Mexican capital was wiped out by red tape but the Padres did sign an agreement to play four exhibition games south of the border next year.

BOXING—San Diego's claim to featherweight fame, Bobby Valdez was KO'd by the flu, forcing him out of a scheduled 10 rounder with Ritchie Gonzales at Los Angeles last week. Valdez is ranked somewhere between fourth and sixth on the world list of feathers in most worthy poles.

Lake opens for fishing

Otay Lake, which won national recognition last year for its trophy catches in Florida bass, will reopen for the 1969 fishing season on Wednesday, March 5, the San Diego Recreation Department's Lakes Recreation Division has announced.

The lake, located eight miles east of Chula Vista will operate on Wednesday, Saturday and Sunday from 6 a.m. to sunset.

Catches at Otay Lake last year reached 15 pounders last year and 14-16 pound bass should be taken several times this year, according to lakes Recreation Superintendent Orville Ball.

Otay lake also offers abundant pan-sized crappie and large white catfish. Good summer bluegill are predicted this year.

The lake is reached by taking the "L" St. turnoff from highway five in Chula Vista and going east to Telegraph Canyon Rd. and south of Wueste Rd.

Tent and trailer camping and picnicking facilities are available at Lower Otay County Park at the south end of the lake.

Damone sings for 'Supper'

Vic Damone, one of America's favorite vocalists, will sing at the April 7 dinner honoring the San Diego Padres on the eve of the city's first major league baseball game.

Damone, currently at the Westside Room of the Century Plaza in Los Angeles, will bring his 18-piece orchestra to provide music for the dinner in the International Room of the El Cortez Hotel.

The dinner is sponsored by the Baseball Writers' Association of America in cooperation with the San Diego Hot Stove League.

Padre players, coaches and manager Preston Gomez will be introduced, as will officials and stars of the Houston Astros, opening night opponents April 8 in the San Diego Stadium.

Damone is a native of Brooklyn, where a special guest of honor at the dinner gained his fame as a catcher for the Dodgers. He is Roy Campanella, recently voted into the Baseball Hall of Fame.

Baseball Writers' dinners are pre-season traditions in other major league cities.

Group or individual reservations to the $20-a-plate dinner are available by contacting Bob Williams or Rick Smith at 234-7111 or by writing to the San Diego Chapter of the Baseball Writers' Association of America, P. O. Box 297, San Diego 92112.

SPORTSMAN'S CORNER

Fish will bite if hook drops

By JEAN SCOTT

The rains came and came and came and stayed. Ocean fishermen donned ponchos and various kinds of rain gear to make the help fishing trips during the week, however Sunday afternoon and both Monday runs were canceled at all landings.

Three half-day boats ventured out of Seaford on Saturday and the fish count included 57 bonito, 16 barracuda 30 kelp bass and 215 rockfish. An eight-pound, four-ounce bonito landed by Glenn Walters of San Diego won the week's prize, free fishing trips on Seaford's sportfishers.

H & M REPORTED 55 yellowtail and 37 white sea bass caught on Saturday. The white sea bass were lunkers ranging from 30 to 40 pounds with the heaviest at 57 pounds. The Coronado Island runs will be scheduled according to the weather with Point Loma, Fisherman's Landing and H & M keeping boats ready to get in on the white sea bass action and the show of yellows at the Islands.

Rain didn't dampen the spirits of the freshwater fishermen. San Vicente had 475 anglers check in over the weekend and Miramar counted 500 anglers, who shared a two trout per angler average. Lake Murray offered good trout fishing and a few carp surprises along with fair bass catches, most of them small fish.

JED TAYLOR, 3339 40th St., fished San Vicente on Saturday for his prize catch, a nine-pound, 10-ounce channel catfish. Taylor's catfish hit a mudsucker along the south shore area known as Salyer Cove. The top bass at Vicente was a six-pound, one-ounce landed by Dave Detrez of Lemon Grove, also on a mudsucker in the same area, Salyer Cove. J. D. Bayley of San Diego is getting a reputation as a great crappie expert. Bayley fished at San Vicente on Thursday landed a 30-pound string (16 fish) and returned Saturday for 16 more crappie weighing 25 pounds. His largest crappie was just short of a record at two pounds, 14 ounces.

A 3 3/4-pound trout was the largest at Miramar reservoir, taken by a Downey fisherman however a close second was a three-pounder landed by Bob Williams of Fallbrook, who also came up with a fine 9 3/4-pound limit. Roy Conklin, 6942 Kramer St. and Bill Cornelius of 4964 Clairemont Dr., pooled their trout talents and a homemade fishing lure to bring a limit each which included a 1 1/2-pounder.

AT LAKE MURRAY anglers leaned towards corn bait in lieu of the more conventional cheese. Two San Diego anglers, Keith Barber and John Le Grand, used corn for their 10-trout string weighing seven pounds, a typical catch for the reservoir over the weekend. A 13-pound carp and several one to two-pound bass catches were checked in. Murray and Miramar will be planted with 800 pounds of trout during the week.

BOB BRADY
Ice water in his veins.

Brady hits foul shots with one second to go

The Warhawks' Bob Brady is an unlikely hero. He's a mild-mannered lad that takes pride in acknowledging himself a team man. He's an excellent ball handler and is rated a fine floor leader. And he's cool. Man, is he cool. He stood at the foul line with a one-and-one going and his team down by a single point with one second to go.

Bob Brady sunk both free throws, one to tie and one to win, 67-66 over Morse in overtime and gain Madison the finals of the 1969 post season CIF Championships.

Madison was forced to come from behind to tie at the end of regulation play when they found themselves down by two with 38 seconds to go. Phil Edwards, the game high point getter with 22, flipped in a 15 foot jumper to force overtime and the excitement was just beginning.

Morse went ahead on field goals by Don Jackson and Terry Antoine and a pair of foul shots by Cedric Reed. The Hawks countered with a two-pointer by Dave Smith and a charity toss by Edwards. Smith got the Warhawks close with a bucket and on the throw in Reed fouled Brady and the "Ice Man" hit on both penalty shots to put Madison in the finals with Helix. Brady was second high man for Madison with 10 points, but the ones that will be long remembered were the last two.

Morse came into the game fighting with some dandy shooting by Avery Clark, Terry Antoine and Cedric Reed. Antoine hit for 19 points, Clark had 18 and Reed potted 14. Don Jackson netted 11 with a deadly 17 foot jumper. The Tigers used a full court press to hold back the charging Warhawks in the second half but the passing game was working for John Hannon's men and they were able to clear the ball into the Morse end of the court.

The game was won on the boards with Edwards, Smith and Dennis Descenzo giving the Hawks second and third shots from in close. It was a screamer all the way and in the end it was the cool shooting of a cool cager that made the Madison Warhawks one point better than the Morse Tigers.

Ansel Adams, eminent naturalist-photographer, will present two days of lectures and workshops on photography at San Diego State College Friday and Saturday. There will be a workshop on basic esthetics and techniques Friday at 9 a.m. and a lecture and slide show at 7 p.m. Saturday, both in Montezuma Hall, Aztec Center. Both events are free to the public.

European tour offered by local singing group

A 22-day European good-will tour is being offered to local residents in conjunction with San Diego's 200th Anniversary celebration.

The tour is being arranged by the Singing San Diegans, an open choral group which will visit several European capitals as official ambassadors of San Diego and California. Anyone who wishes to participate may join the choir, which will be under the direction of David Loomis, assistant professor of music at San Diego State College. Non-singers are also welcome on the tour; a similar tour last year drew 10 non-singers.

Featured on the tour will be receptions and interviews with mayors and civic leaders in European cities.

Loomis said he will welcome individuals who play instruments and would be interested in participating in a jazz combo on the tour.

The tour is scheduled July 8 to 29, and will include

Spain, Hungary, Czechoslovakia, Mallorca, Sweden and Russia.

Among the cities to be visited are Madrid, Barcelona, Prague, Moscow, Leningrad and Stockholm.

A general organizational meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in the Music Auditorium at San Diego State. The meeting will include a slide presentation of the tour itinerary and a discussion and question-and-answer session on the itinerary, sightseeing, expenses, concerts and necessary documents, with hints on packing, shopping and so on.

The cost to each participant will be $1,035, which includes visas, transportation, housing, meals and sightseeing. There will be some need for extra money for personal expenses.

Those who participate in the choir will rehearse from 9 to 11:30 a.m. on Saturday mornings prior to the tour.

Last summer 42 persons participated in the tour.

Interested persons may contact Loomis at 286-6060.

Junior Achievement makes sales pitch

"I really have no use for one."

"I think I'd better wait and ask my husband first."

Those were some of the 'objections' Junior Achievement salesmen had to overcome while giving their best sales pitch before a panel of judges from the Sales and Marketing Executives (SME) Club yesterday morning at the JA Center.

City Councilman Helen Cobb played the role of 'customer' as the youthful contestants sold their products and timed the close to conform to contest specifications. The salesman is rated on sales approach, product demonstration, voice, poise, ability to overcome objections and close the sale within the prescribed time limits.

Eighteen candidates filed for the preliminary contest. Three finalists were to be selected by the SME judges panel to compete for the title of Best Salesman Thursday at the annual Junior Achievement Night dinner hosted by the SME. Mayor Frank Curran took the role of "buyer."

Wilson seeks action on dope trafficking

Declaring that illegal use of dope pills in the San Diego area is at the crisis stage, Rep. Bob Wilson (R-San Diego) has urged the Justice Department in Washington to crack down hard on dangerous drug trafficking along the Mexican border.

Wilson's call for prompt federal actions was put to Deputy Attorney General Richard Kleindienst in a meeting Wilson and San Diego County District Attorney Don Keller had with Kleindienst in Washington this week.

"The sickening thing in pill trafficking is that the pills are manufactured in our own country, taken across the border into Mexico and sold there to smugglers who sneak them back into the United States," Wilson said.

"The best way to get to the root of the pill problem," he said, "is to put tough federal controls on their distribution in the United States."

Wilson said Kleindienst assured him and Keller that a legislative package on narcotics control, now being drafted by the department, will include federal regulations on pill trafficking.

The new legislation, Wilson said, should require federal licensing of all pill manufacturers, distributors and dealers and should prohibit them from selling the pills in sizeable quantities to anyone who isn't also federally licensed.

"Such licensing would correct the present situation where just about anyone who represents himself as a drugist can buy the pills through the mail or at the warehouse without fear of being prosecuted and punished," Wilson said.

In the conference with Kleindienst, Wilson cited statistics in a recent Sentinel editorial by Clinton D. McKinnon which showed that the amount of seized dope pills at the San Ysidro border station jumped from 65,000 units in 1965 to 2,848,761 in 1968.

Wilson, who inspected the narcotics control section of the San Diego Police Department last week, said the size of dope pill shipments coming into the San Diego area currently are as big as 500,000 pills per shipment.

"This pill problem has reached crisis proportions," Wilson said. "School authorities now estimate that 20 to 30 percent of the high school students in the San Diego area have used marijuana or dangerous pills."

Wilson also has proposed increasing the force of federal agents at San Ysidro to help stem the flow of illegal pills and narcotics across the border.

McKinnon will head Multiple Sclerosis drive

Clinton D. McKinnon of Pacific Beach, owner of the Sentinel, has been named chairman of the 1969 MS Hope Chest campaign for the San Diego area chapter of the National Multiple Sclerosis Society.

The appeal, scheduled from May 16-23, will raise funds for local patient services as well as the National Society's program of medical and scientific research.

McKinnon said, "I am pleased to work with the hundreds of volunteers who will visit your homes during the campaign. Although great strides have been made against multiple sclerosis during the past 20 years since the founding of the National Society, much more must be done for the multiple sclerosis patients here and throughout the world.

"The cause and cure remain unknown. But the Society, with your help, is continuing to support promising research to find the answer to this baffling disease," he said.

"Locally, we conduct a patient service program which includes home nursing training, friendly visitors program, 'talking books,' drug and medicine program, medical equipment and appliances for emergency purposes and a strong referral program with other volunteer agencies. I ask every resident of San Diego County to support this fight against multiple sclerosis by giving generously to the Hope Chest campaign," he added.

Many a family is pressed by high prices, but only a few are taken to the cleaners.

Kite festival coming next Saturday at OB

Final preparations are being made this week for the 21st annual Ocean Beach Kite Festival and Parade Saturday, part of the Ocean Beach community's official participation in the 200th anniversary celebration.

Master of ceremonies for the event will be "Uncle Russ" Plummer, a radio and television personality, according to John Juanico, director of the Ocean Beach Recreation Center.

Juanico said all types of kites are welcome in the festival, hand made or store bought. "Youngsters are also welcome to fly their kites on the beach whether or not they are in the parade," he said. The parade will begin at 2 p.m. following the judging and awarding of prizes.

The parade route runs down Newport Avenue from Ocean Beach School to the beach and then north a few blocks on Abbott Street. Kite flying will follow on the beach.

The kite festival is sponsored by the City Recreation Department, the Ocean Beach Kiwanis Club and the Peninsula Recreation Council. Kite festival chairman of each organization respectively are Juanico, Dr. Donald Mitchell and Jim Cummins.

Juanico said that starting tomorrow through Friday, the recreation center will be open from 3 to 5 p.m. each day so that children may build kites.

There will be awards in five divisions during the festival. The divisions include first grade and under, second grade, third grade, fourth grade and fifth and sixth grades.

Awards will also be made for the biggest kite, the smallest kite (that actually flies), the best construction, the best decorated and the most unusual.

Sunset steps near reality

City councilmen are expected to award a contract to Jay-Van Construction Co. Tuesday for the construction of stairways at four locations in the Sunset Cliffs area, according to Deputy Mayor Sam T. Loftin.

The firm's bid was one of six received by the city for the work and was 29 percent below the city's estimate of $21,000 for the project. Stairways are planned for Cable Street, Santa Cruz Avenue, Bermuda Avenue, and Ladera Street. The Ladera Street project has been advanced.

The stairways were sought by Loftin at the urging of several community groups concerned about persons falling down the cliffs.

Rezoning slated for Wednesday

City planning commissioners will hold hearings Wednesday on two rezoning requests effecting property in the Peninsula.

The commission is scheduled to hear an application by the Norman Co. that 5.38 acres located on the north side of West Point Loma Boulevard between Adrian and Famosa Streets be rezoned from high-density residential (R-4) and a light commercial zone (C-1A) to C-1A, CP (commercial parking), and commercial.

The developers have requested that a 1.74 acre parcel now zoned C-1A be rezoned C, that 2.48 acres now zoned R-4 be made C-1A, and that another 1.18 acres of R-4 be zoned CP. The Planning Commission will hear the matter at 1:30 p.m. in the City Council Chambers, 12th floor, City Administration Building.

In a second hearing, to be held earlier in the day at 10:30 a.m., the commission has been asked to rezone property located on the west side of Midway Drive south of Duke Street from a single-family residential zone to the commercial zone. Approximately 24,700 square feet are involved.

Council sets area changes

City councilmen made it official this week and took final action on a redistricting ordinance that places the Eun Gold Point area of La Jolla in Council District 1.

In the North Shores, most other changes in districts were minor. The biggest shift is in the Linda Vista area, which now will be represented by District 5 Councilman Floyd Morrow instead of Councilman Bob Martinet of the Sixth District.

School bond unit plans three coffee hours

The Loma Portal section of People United for School Bonds will sponsor three open coffee hours this week.

Mrs. Paul Lindscoog, Loma Portal chairman for school bond passage, said that open invitations are being sent to area residents.

Dr. and Mrs. Paul Reeb, 3131 Xenophon St., will open their home for the first coffee on Wednesday at 1 p.m. Wednesday at 8 p.m. a coffee at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Gallagher, 3624 Amayllis Dr., will include films of some of the schools which would be remodeled if the bond issue passes.

The last open meeting will be held Thursday at 10 a.m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs.

Donald H. Heller, 3202 Elliott St.

Mrs. Lindscoog said a speaker from the central bureau of People United for School Bonds will be at each coffee hour to answer questions and provide information.

Others scheduled to attend the coffees include David A. Anfanger, Loma Portal School principal; Mrs. Leonard Philippi, Loma Portal PTA president; Mrs. Samuel Rosenzweig, Loma Portal coffee hour chairman, and Mrs. Lindscoog.

Loma Portal is one of the pre-field Act schools which would be partially rebuilt if the school bond issue passes on March 11.

Open space moves ahead

The legal framework for acquiring more than 2,000 acres of Tecolote Canyon as an open space district was approved this week by the City Council.

The enabling legislation allows open space areas to be established in any area of the city if owners representing 60 percent of the land within an area petition the council for formation of an assessment district for acquisition of open space areas.

The ordinance allows for acquisition of land by purchase, gift or condemnation. Once the land is acquired it is dedicated to the city as park land. A citizen advisory group is formed by the assessment district to help the council regulate the area.

R. K. Fox, a deputy city attorney, said the ordinance is written so that either the city or the assessment district can assume the costs for maintenance of acquired property. He said a council policy covering the maintenance question is being developed.

Under the ordinance, any improvements to an area purchased by an assessment district can be paid for by the district, the city, or a combination of the two. Property within the district is assessed relative to the enhancement of the market value of the property. Generally, assessments are lower the greater the distance from the acreage acquired. Considerations of lot size and zoning also are a part of the assessment determination.

Members of the Clairemont-Mesa Development Committee and the Kearny-Vista Planning Organization are expected to start circulating petitions in the near future in an effort to obtain the needed signatures for the Tecolote acquisition.

Utility company agrees magazine ad was 'poor'

The San Diego Gas & Electric Company has apologized to the Mexican-American-Federation of San Diego City and County for a floodlighting advertisement that the federation criticized as being offensive to Mexican-Americans.

"The company apologizes to you and the Mexican-American community for the advertisement. We regret that we were not sensitive enough to your point of view to have foreseen its impact on your people," Sinnott said.

"Let me assure you that we had absolutely no intention of presenting an unfavorable image of any person or group. Our intent was simply to interest businesses in floodlighting. As you have pointed out, we picked a poor example."

Town Talk

By MARY FISHEL

APRIL SHOWERS . . . are bound to help beautify fresh cut flowers, fruits and potted plants (and I am sure we can count on a little liquid sunshine at the rate we've been getting it) April 12 (11 a.m. to 5 p.m.) in a well-stocked "Garden Shop" at the annual St. James-by-the-Sea Home and Garden Tour in La Jolla. Mrs. Philip G. Webster, chairman, has announced bus transportation will be available (11 a.m.

until 2 p.m.) at the Parish House and tea will be served at the La Jolla Beach and Tennis Club. Mrs. Webster is a native of Toledo, Ohio, but she has lived in La Jolla for the past 17 years. She has been active in both the Junior League and Las Patronas. She and her husband are both members of the La Jolla Beach and Tennis Club . . . however their liveliest interest has been in their four sons . . . Philip Jr., a student at Francis W. Parker; Rathbun, and twins David and John, who all attend The Evans School.

Homes on the tour this year will be those of Mr. and Mrs. William Hillyer, Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Johnston, Baroness Margaret von Soosten and Baron Frederick von Soosten and Mr. and Mrs. John Willis.

Mrs. Jack Durbin will assist Mrs. Webster as co-chairman and Mrs. Jack W. Crumley will serve as adviser.

Other hard working committee members will include Mmes. Gordon Mounce, Warren W. Stanley, J. Richard Riggles, Thomas G. Brown, and Lloyd A. Payne.

Still others will be Mmes. Worlton Cosel, Colin B. Williams, George H. Gentry, Robert C. Olson, Robert J. Durham, Frank Creighton, C. Arthur Rolander Jr., Bernice R. Penn, Earl Custin, Charles C. Love Jr. and Robert M. Beardsley.

Last, but certainly not least, will be one lone male chairman . . . Trevor G. Clarke, heading the men's committee.

RUMMAGE SOS . . . Harriet Rohlf of Point Loma, is sending out a plea to members of CUIDAR to help sort rummage Wednesday (10 a.m. until 2 p.m.) either morning or afternoon for the "Spring Sale" scheduled March 7 from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m. at Neighborhood House.

They also need good used childrens clothing, especially anything that could be used for Easter, cotton school dresses and suits . . . adult clothing, small household items, utensils, jewelry, books, art supplies . . . in fact you name it, they need it!

HALL R. O'REGAN . . . (SP/5-Army) had breakfast in bed not long ago served by The Head of the House, his Father Bob O'Regan! Reason being, Hall is home from Germany on a 30-day leave before reporting to Fort Lewis, Washington in early March . . . and from there to an Army unit in Vietnam.

Other visitors at Dotty and Bob O'Regan's Pacific Beach home are Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Fraker of Winnetka, Illinois (Dotty's sister) and their children Ken of Phoenix, Arizona and Dorothy of Chicago, Ill.

Then too, Hall has naturally attracted his sister and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. David Wozniak and their youngsters Angela and Paul of Cardiff-by-the-Sea.

MRS. JOHN MAZUR . . . of Pacific Beach (better known to the Globe Guilders as Maggie, since she is their president) has announced the annual "Globe Guilders Steering Committee" will toss their annual party for the staff of the Old Globe Theatre Monday.

The place will be the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Pain in La Jolla. Party time will be at 7:30 p.m. There will be a social hour and a catered sit-down barbecue supper. Furthermore the staff has been invited to bring their husband or wife or if single . . . companion of their choice.

Party chairman is Mrs. John P. Choisser and Mr. John P. Choisser has been prevailed upon to play his banjo and guitar, by you know who!

A surprise award event for "valor beyond the call of duty" is being plotted by Maggie Mazur (Mrs. John), Ann Pund (Mrs. Ernest) Millicent Froehlich (Mrs. Charles W.) and Valeda Turner (Mrs. George R.) . . . we wonder?

JERRY ARCHER . . . (mr. archer's on Rosecrans) is not only The Best hairstylist in town, but he also knows the funniest jokes. For instance "A truck driver stopped at a restaurant to eat his lunch and ordered soup, a sandwich, coffee and pie.

Three Hell's Angels came in and walked up to him . . . the first one took his coffee, the second his sandwich and the third his soup. The man continued to calmly eat his pie . . . when he was through he walked up . . . paid the entire bill and left.

One of the Hell's Angels walked up to the owner and said . . . "I wouldn't say he was much of a man would you?"

The owner replied . . . "I wouldn't say he was much of a driver either, since he ran over three motorcycles on his way out!"

APRIL TOUR—Mrs. Philip G. Webster has been named chairman of the 1969 St. James-by-the-Sea Home and Garden Tour scheduled from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. April 12. Tea will be served at the La Jolla Beach and Tennis Club and a garden shop will feature fresh cut flowers, fruits and potted plants for sale.

He is the son of Mrs. Robert Kendal of La Jolla and the late Mr. Kendal. The couple was married in the garden home of his maternal grandmother Mrs. Charles E. Kaltenbach also of La Jolla.

The bride had belonged to the bridegroom's grandfather.

It was his wedding band, and it was sized to fit the bride's finger.

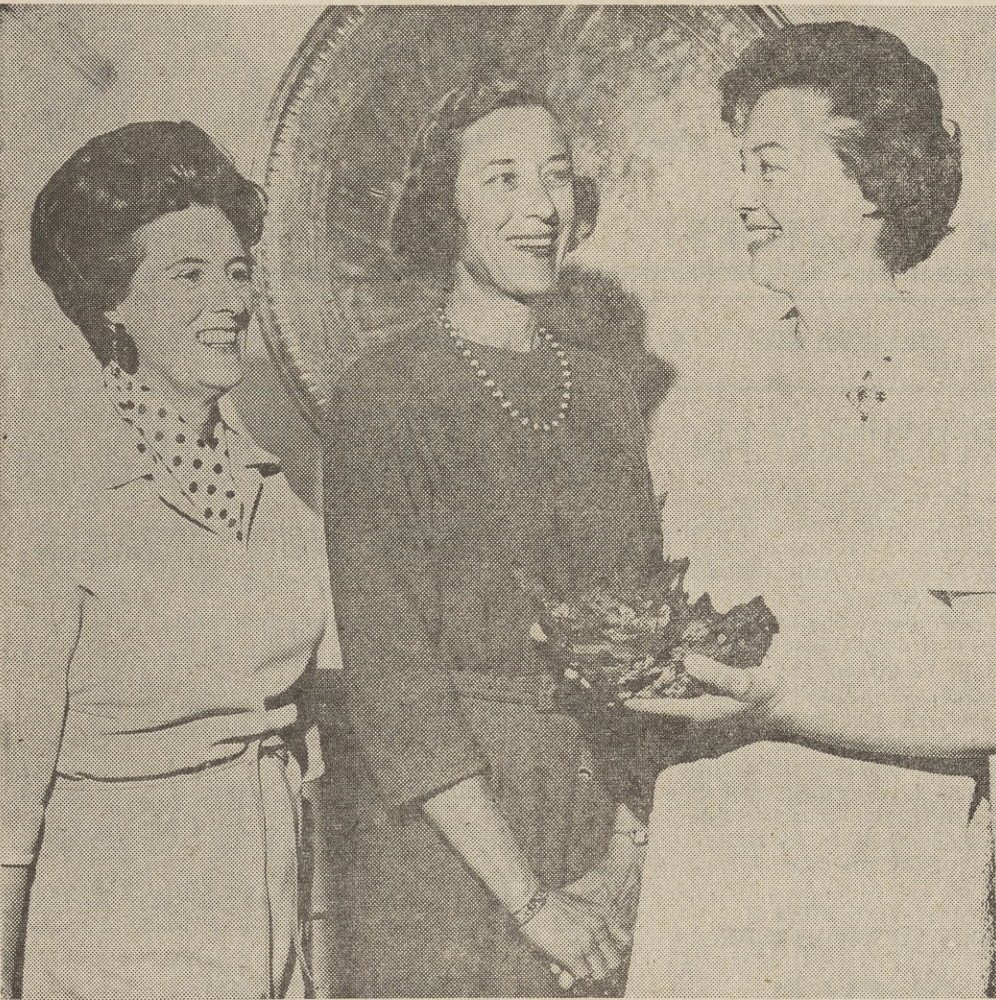

Bridesmaid were Barbara Fowlkes and Cheryl Lloyd, both former roommates of the bride.

Mitch Weiner attended the bridegroom as best man.

A reception followed the informal ceremony in Mrs. Kaltenbach's home. Mrs. Clifford Kendal, paternal grandmother of the bridegroom from Summit, N.J., also attended the wedding.

The new Mrs. Kendal is in her senior year at San Diego State. She attended high school in Hawaii. Her husband is also a senior at State.

Following a short honeymoon, the couple is residing in Rancho Santa Fe.

Photographic art show is scheduled

Mrs. William Randall Walker of Clairemont will be among the hostesses at a reception for Arthur M. Ariessohn at 1 p.m. today in the Esperanto Building in Mission Valley to mark the opening of his one-man show on photographic art.

"Photography has given me an opportunity, consistent with my personality, to express my abilities that no other media could," he said. His black and white photography is characterized by high-contrast prints. Ariessohn takes pictures of basic elements, believing that a picture of moderate interest can be enhanced by the high-contrast method.

He is a past president of the La Mesa Camera Club and has won many club awards.

Ariessohn has done all the framing of his photographs for his exhibit, however he credits his wife for the originality of ideas for that framing.

Another one-man show of Ariessohn has been at the Ben Polak Fine Arts Gallery in La Mesa. He has displayed his work in group shows by the La Mesa Camera Club at Grossmont Center, East County Fair, La Mesa County Library and the La Mesa Adult Recreation Center.
